

5 Elements of Growth Feedback

which one is the most important?
which one is the most challenging for you?

Sincerity

I've seen in you a lot of enthusiasm regarding the team, the learning process, and a positive vibe!

Specific

You are very punctual for all our meetings, and you volunteer often.

Notice and react positively to any Progress

(even small+ positive reactions that follow)

Over the last few weeks, you have been more aware of others, you've let them speak their mind during meetings and I appreciate that your patience has increased.

Not Yet/Work in Progress

At this stage you don't know your colleagues very well yet, you need to work more closely on joint tasks in order to get to know each other better.

Positive Intention

My intention is to create this framework, to involve you in more projects with other people, in order to give you the opportunity to form relationships with your peers.
